Defiance Of Britain By Ireland Looms

LONDON, May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Representatives of the Irish provisional government are coming to London Thursday night for a conference with representatives of the British cabinet concerning the agreement reached last Saturday between the two Irish political factions. This announcement was made this afternoon in the house of commons by Austen Chamberlain, the government leader.

LONDON, May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—The latest developments in Ireland are regarded here as having added to the seriousness of the situation and considerable anxiety is manifest as to the outcome. The pact between Michael Collins and Eamon DeValera, which was viewed with deep distrust by many from the outset owing to the latter's avowed uncompromising hostility to the Anglo-Irish treaty and the proposed constitution, is now regarded with increased suspicion in consequence of Collins' address before the Ard Fheis.

In his address, Mr. Collins said, "If, as has been said, this agreement imperils the Anglo-Irish treaty, we will have to face that in this manner. We have made an agreement which will bring stable conditions to the country and if these stable conditions are not more valuable than any other agreement then we must face what these stable conditions will enable us to face."

This is generally interpreted here as defiance of Great Britain and the Times' Dublin correspondent says, "The statement is so grave that it is a comment upon it would be improper."

The Dublin correspondent of the Daily Telegraph predicts that "Great Britain will be confronted at the earliest possible moment with a demand from the whole forces of the Dail Eireann for acknowledgement of Ireland as an independent republic, owing no allegiance to the empire and embracing not only the 26 counties, but the whole of Ireland."

He adds, "The treaty from today is of little value. Collins in his speech tore it to fragments and declared himself prepared to face the worst."

The Morning Post's correspondent says the statement means that "if Great Britain objects to the pact on the ground that it violates the treaty, then Great Britain can go to the devil and take the treaty with it."

The British cabinet, according to some of the morning papers, regards the situation as very serious and its committee on Ireland met last night to discuss the position, with Prime Minister Lloyd George presiding.

Negro Escapes From A Mob

MACON, GA., May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Jim Denson, negro, who escaped from a mob early yesterday, after he had been removed from the Wilkinson county jail at Irwinton, was captured today in a swamp six miles from that town and brought to Macon this afternoon. He was placed in the Bibb county jail for safekeeping. Denson is under sentence to hang June 16, at Irwinton for an attack three years ago on an aged white woman.

IRWINTON, GA., May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Jim Denson, escaped from a mob yesterday, after being seized from the local jail. The negro's escape shatters all mob records in Georgia. An automobile accident saved him from the wrath of the Wilkinson county mob that stormed the jail here where he was held under sentence of death for a crime alleged to have been committed against a white woman three years ago. Many would-be victims have been rescued by officers, but this is believed to be the first case of an unaided escape. Denson made his getaway when the automobile in which he was being taken to the scene of the alleged crime crashed into another car. Although thrown to the road with the rest of the occupants, he was the only one not stunned by the impact and was able to make his escape.

Denson has been twice sentenced to death, the last sentence having been imposed here Monday with the execution set for June 16. Two carpenters arrived here yesterday to build a gallows, but the job has been postponed indefinitely.

It is claimed that Gant's robberies extend over a period of several months. Detectives are investigating a report that he shipped many stolen articles to points in Indiana.

CUT AVERAGING TEN PERCENT AFFECTS ALL PARTS OF THE NATION

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Reductions in freight rates averaging about ten per cent, were ordered today by the interstate commerce commission in a decision resulting from its inquiry into the general rate structure of the nation.

The cut in freight rates was fixed by the commission at fourteen per cent in eastern territory; thirteen and one-half per cent in western territory and twelve and one-half per cent in the southern and mountain Pacific territories. All reductions ordered, are effective July 1, and constitute a greater cut than was generally expected.

The commission in ordering the decreases—which are on a horizontal basis—held that the nation's railroads are entitled to earn 5.34 per cent on the value of their property, rather than the approximate 6 per cent, fixed as a reasonable return in the transportation act of 1920.

The transportation charges on passenger travel and Pullman charges were left unaffected by today's decision.

Agricultural products will not be affected by the reduction granted under the commission's order today. The reduction of 16 1/2 per cent made in the western hay and grain rates last fall and the voluntary ten per cent cut made in all agricultural products by railroads January 1, will be substituted for the decision on these commodities.

The commission in its decision declared a general reduction in rate levels "as substantial" as the condition of the carrier will permit will tend to stabilize conditions of all business.

"Transportation charges have mounted to the point where they are impeding the free flow of commerce," the commission's decision, which ordered a far greater reduction of rates than had been anticipated in any quarter, said, "and are thus tending to the defeat of the purpose for which they were established, that of producing revenue which would enable the carriers to provide the people of the United States with adequate transportation."

Passenger rates and Pullman car surcharges were left unaffected by the decision, which applied to freight rates exclusively. The rate cut averaged approximately an actual 10 per cent decrease in rates. Only two members of the board, Commissioners Lewis and Cox, dissented, holding that the adjustments should have been made in commodity rates, rather than on a horizontal basis.

Chairman McChord and other commissioners accepted this view in a supplemental opinion concurring with the majority.

The order of the commission fixing the new level of rates defined the percentages of reduction as follows:

In the eastern group, also between points in Illinois territory and the eastern Illinois territory and the eastern group, 25 per cent instead of the 40 per cent authorized in the decisions last filed (the rate increases of 1920).

"In the western group and between the western group and Illinois territory 21 5/10 per cent instead of the 35 per cent so authorized."

"In the southern and mountain Pacific groups 12 5/10 per cent instead of the 25 per cent so authorized."

"On inter-territorial traffic except as otherwise provided herein, 20 per cent instead of the 33 1/3 per cent so authorized."

Commissioner Potter in a separate opinion concurring with the majority, declared that the fixing of the percentages mentioned is in effect a requirement that present rates, and charges shall, generally speaking, be reduced ten per cent—certain reductions heretofore made to be treated as part of such ten per cent reduction.

The majority opinion reviewed the recent history of rate regulation and set forth summaries of arguments made by shippers in favor of reductions and carriers against reductions. It expressed the conclusion that "as" (Continued on Page Eleven)

Officials Determined To Bar Klan Meeting

AKRON, O., May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—City and county officials today were awaiting developments in the efforts of the Ku Klux Klan to hold a mass meeting here tonight. Following announcement from Columbus that the state army here could not be used for the meeting, a national organizer of the Klan failed to locate another hall large enough to accommodate the 4,000 men expected.

City council yesterday passed a resolution directing safety director Sells to prevent the meeting if possible.

City Administrator Homer Campbell announced this morning that the city would refuse permission for holding the Klan meeting in a public park. If a hall is secured, city officials will not interfere so long as no unlawful acts are committed.

AKRON, O., May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—An attempt to hold the Ku Klux Klan meeting in the commons here between the armory and county court house, it was announced this afternoon by Klan leaders. If there is any interference with the meeting there, leaders said, a parade will be formed and Klansmen will march to some private property where the meeting will be held.

CANTON, O., May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—The Ku Klux Klan will be permitted to parade through the city streets tomorrow night preceding the mass meeting to be held under the auspices of the Klan in the city auditorium, city officials announced today. Mayor C. C. Curtis informed officials of the Klan, however, that marchers would not be permitted to wear the hood and gown costume of the organization.

MAY FURTHER CUT DOVER'S POWER

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Further shifting of internal revenue bureau personnel was indicated today at the treasury.

Commissioner Blair said frankly there was possibility of such shifts, although the most important, he added, was accomplished through the removal yesterday of A. D. Sumner, deputy commissioner in charge of accounts, and C. C. Childs, supervisor of collectors and the consolidation of the two offices.

Mr. Sumner was appointed from Iowa, and Mr. Childs from Ohio. The latter was a star football player at Yale, later was football coach at Wooster college and head football coach at Indiana university and during the world war was an officer of the 32nd division.

Speculation continued in some official quarters today as to the attitude of Assistant Secretary Dover, of the treasury, toward the removal as both men were appointed on his recommendation. Mr. Dover now is on a western trip and today was in San Francisco. At the treasury the possible outcome of the Dover-Blair situation was freely discussed and broad hints were given that Mr. Dover might be expected to lessen his activities in internal revenue bureau matters.

Belief was also expressed by high officials that Mr. Dover's proposal for decentralizing the work of the bureau to permit franking of tax matters in the various departments is not finding favor as the plan is being studied, and the possibility of Mr. Dover's policies receiving another setback was forecast by these officials.

Secretary Mellon signed an order yesterday abolishing the accounts unit and the officers of Supervisor of Collectors' offices and consolidated the duties hitherto performed by these two offices under a new unit to be known as the Accounts and Collections unit of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Deputy Commissioner Charles G. Nash of Minnesota, former assistant financial supervisor will assume charge of the new unit which comes into being forthwith. Deputy Commissioner A. Sumner of Iowa, who had been in charge of the accounts unit and C. C. Childs of Ohio, supervisor of collectors, have been removed from offices by virtue of the consolidation.

DAUGHERTY CHARGED WITH HAVING CONGRESSMEN "SHADOWED"

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Attorney General Daugherty was charged by Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, speaking today in the senate, with having assigned secret service operatives to shadow members of congress.

The Arkansas senator declared Mr. Daugherty never had denied the charge recently made by H. L. Scaife, discharged department of justice employee, that secret service men, including a negro coachman, had been assigned to follow members of the house.

The senator added the statement that he knew of a witness who would testify that "secret service men are trailing members of the senate as well as spring on members of the house."

Another statement made by Senator Caraway was that the attorney general and C. B. Felder, New York attorney, "suggested" that Charles W. Morse had a kidney disease when they were seeking his commutation from the Atlanta penitentiary.

Mr. Caraway's statements, in the course of another long address on the Morse case and war fraud prosecutions, were made in commenting on a statement issued by the attorney general declaring that his connections with the Morse case were shown by letters of former President Taft and Attorney General Wickesham. The statement also suggested that the attorney general's war fraud prosecutions were the basis for attacks upon him. This was denied by the Arkansas senator.

Referring to Mr. Daugherty as the "titular attorney general," Senator Caraway said that Mr. Daugherty's statement was "not candid" and that he used that term to be polite and not to state what he really meant.

The Taft and Wickesham letters, Senator Caraway said, did not show Mr. Daugherty's connection with the Morse case as stated by Mr. Daugherty, because, the Arkansas senator declared, they did not show that Mr. Daugherty and Mr. Felder had a contract calling for $25,000 to effect Morse's release.

"They did not show that Morse was given some kind of a chemical to make his kidneys bleed," said Senator Caraway, "nor a contract with Morse that he (Morse) must submit to whatever he suggested in handling" (Continued On Page Eleven)

'HUGO, FIRST' LOCKS INDUSTRY

BY MILTON BRONNER
European Manager for NEA Service

BERLIN, May 24.—One afternoon Hugo Stinnes, the business colossus of Germany, on route from his home in Muelheim to Berlin, spent the time on the train reading his favorite light literature—the financial reports of big German corporations.

The one he had in his hand was that of the Siemens and Halske Schueckert concern. It is one of the two great industrial electrical trusts of Germany. Its history is the typical German one of law protected and approved successful combination of big successful corporations into a super business. In this it resembles the manner in which Stinnes himself combined all his various coal and iron enterprises with those of others and brought into being the vast Rhine-Elbe Union.

"Himmel!" Stinnes is reported to have said to his secretary after looking over the figures of the electrical trust's report. "Those people use a vast lot of coal, iron and steel in a year's time. And they can't ever be sure of their supply. Why not build a new combination, a trust of trusts, bigger than anything Germany has ever seen?"

He Acts Quickly
With Stinnes to think, to dream, is to act. He got into touch with the electrical concern. He showed them how his coal and iron and steel, added to their technical skill and inventions and patents, would make a more successful business than before.

It was not long before he brought about a combine of the Rhine-Elbe Union and the Siemens and Halske Schueckert concern. It is known as the Siemens-Rhine-Elbe-Schueckert Union. It is so big it makes one dizzy to contemplate its size and its Continued on Page Eleven)

A paper "Shifting Scenes on the Stage of New China," was interestingly given by Miss Violet Cunningham. Mrs. Flor Morgan read an article on "The Diamond." Light refreshments were served by the hostesses before adjournment.

Guests for the evening were: Mrs. Norma Mark Dugan, of Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. J. E. McDowell and Miss Edith Rorke.

Miss Christine Selby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark W. Selby, of Fourth street, will be graduated from Miss Wright's School for Girls, Bryn Mawr, Pa., on Thursday, June first. She will graduate with the highest honors in her class.

The program during the afternoon proved unusually interesting, and was in the nature of a Central and South America travelogue. Miss Muldred Mont, Spanish teacher at P. H. S., gave a most entertaining talk of the customs in Costa Rica, where she lived for some time.

Mrs. Irving Drew, who has also traveled extensively, gave a descriptive talk, entitled "On Either Side of the Rio Grande." Several others also talked extemporaneously, or read short articles of interest from magazines or travel stories.

Following the program, the remainder of the afternoon was spent sociably, and at 4:30 o'clock, a delicious refreshment course was served.

There will be an important meeting of the Sodality of Holy Redeemer church at the Mercy Hospital headquarters, in the U. S. church, tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

ONE FOURTH OF MERCY QUOTA RAISED

COMPLETE PLANS FOR MEMORIAL DAY

While Tuesday's report in dollars fell short of the work on Monday, nevertheless the soliciting teams engaged in raising $200,000 for the erection of a new Mercy hospital and training school for nurses were jubilant at the noon-day luncheon at the United Brethren church today when subscriptions for $19,345 were reported, bringing the total for the two days to $52,340, or past the quarter mark. When it is taken into consideration that the teams have worked less than one day and a half, the showing, according to those in active charge of the campaign, is remarkable. Surely the enthusiasm is at high tide, and there is a lurking suspicion among some of the team captains that some one is "holding back," preparing to make a flash that will sweep the other captains and the workers off their feet.

There was no report made at today's meeting from the executive committee, with the exception of two donations, one for $100 made by Attorney W. J. Meyer and one for $500 made by John H. Lange, both of Columbus. When Mr. Vallee Harold, who acted as chairman in the absence of Edward T. Reed read the telegram from the above mentioned gentlemen, there was a wild outburst of applause. Mr. Harold stated that inasmuch as these two donations were made from former residents, it only went to prove that when men move away from the Peerless City they carry with them hearts that ever beat for anything that has for its object the betterment of conditions for those they leave behind. Telegrams have been forwarded to hundreds of former residents, and if the recipients are prompted by the same motives as Messrs. Meyer and Lange, this column in the tally sheet will produce a very handsome sum.

In assuming the chair, Mr. Harold stated that he never was so proud of Portsmouth and Portsmouth people as at this particular time. He said it was a magnificent thing for busy men to lay aside their work—to forget their business and engage in such a humanitarian work. "We want you men to have the credit," said Chairman Harold, "and we want every one to know that we are mighty proud of you. But men, don't look upon this as a holiday job—it's a task that calls forth the best that is within you. You will meet many obstacles—but as you approach them they will disappear, and will be surmounted without much trouble. We want to again emphasize the fact that the work you are doing is a great thing, a noble thing, proving once more that higher type of citizenship for which this grand old town is justly noted."

Previous to the reports by the team captains, Mr. Harold read the following telegrams:

Columbus, O., May 24—Rev. Father McGuirk, Portsmouth, O.: I gladly subscribe one hundred dollars to Mercy hospital. William J. Meyer.

Columbus, O., May 24—Edward T. Reed, General Chairman—You may enter my subscription for five hundred dollars to the most noble work good old Portsmouth town has ever undertaken. I look forward with pride to the success of your efforts. Peerless Portsmouth knows no failure. John H. Lange.

To Division B went the honor for the largest report Tuesday. This division played second fiddle to "A" yesterday, and through the splendid showing of teams 15 and 16, captained by W. J. Burke and Frank Stanton, Division B went over the top with a bound and a shout. W. J. Burke carried off the honors and flag for all teams, Tuesday, posting off Frank Stanton's team by the narrow margin of $81. Dr. Ruggles' team, No. 7, in Division A, held onto the flag they captured Monday, showing the largest report of teams in that division. It is stated, however, that this team will have to look to its laurels Thursday noon.

It is giving away a little secret, but Captain Frank Stanton of team No. 16 stated after the meeting that it was his own fault that Captain Burke won today. All of which would indicate at least one team was "holding out." At the conclusion of the reports, acting chairman Harold stated that it was well for the workers to call attention to the fact that subscribers had two years in which to pay their pledges. This will cover eight payments, one every three months. There was an impression, he said, that pledges should be paid at once. The report for Tuesday, together with the result of the campaign is given below:

88 TODAY

At 2:30 this afternoon the mercury registered 88 and apparently would exceed the 90 mark before the heat crest was reached.

Mr. Bruch Here

W. J. Bruch, chief clerk to J. T. Carey, general superintendent of the western division of the N. & W., was in the city Wednesday from Bluefield on a short business trip.

Plans for one of the biggest Memorial Day celebrations ever held in Portsmouth were discussed at a meeting of representatives of the major organizations held Tuesday night in the American Legion club rooms. The representatives from the various organizations present expressed opinions that the turnout this year would be bigger than ever. Last year only a small number of school children marched in the parade but this year an effort will be made to have a large turnout of school pupils.

Among the organizations represented last night were the G. A. R., Sons of Veterans, American Legion, Spanish War Veterans, Combat Train, Battery B, Women's Relief Corps, Women's Auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans, American Legion and Spanish War Veterans. Gilbert F. Diddle was chairman of the meeting.

The first feature of the Memorial Day program will be the usual parade which will form in front of the public library on Gallia street about 9:30 o'clock. An effort will be made to have the parade more at nine o'clock sharp. Several bands will be invited to parade in addition to the drum corps and buglers.

The line of march is to be west on Gallia to Chillicothe, north on Chillicothe to Ninth, through the park and past the Soldiers' monument and back to Ninth street at Gay, east on Ninth to Offens and north on Offens to Greenlawn cemetery.

Attorney Clinton M. Seal has been secured to deliver the Memorial Day address at the cemetery. The graves will be decorated by Boy Scouts and ex-service men.

The members of the Combat Train and Battery B, are expected to turn out in full uniform for the parade.

Many ex-service men, soldiers, sailors, and marines, are also expected to parade in uniform.

There will be two firing squads this year instead of one. The Spanish War Veterans and American Legion will be represented by firing squads. The marshal and his aides are to be selected in a few days. It is possible that Howard Harsha will be grand marshal again this year.

W. L. Quetel of the Sons of Veterans, and chairman of the automobile bill committee reported that he had been working with the Portsmouth Automobile Club and that plenty of machines were assured the G. A. R. veterans and members of the women's organizations in the parade.

A committee consisting of Richard Pratt, Dave Scott and Harry Donaldson was appointed to go to the cemetery Sunday and mark all graves of war veterans.

The problem of securing flowers, one of the most important problems met every year by the committee, again came up last night for discussion. In order to secure sufficient flowers for the graves of soldiers the committee has issued the following request:

"The public is requested to refrain from decorating graves until after Decoration Day, saving the flowers for the graves of the men who fought and died in the service of their country. Flowers should be taken to the Public Library where there will be someone to receive them all day Monday, until 9 p. m., and also early Tuesday morning."

David Scott is chairman of the decorating committee and will have a committee from each of the patriotic organizations represented, assisting him.

HOT IN EUROPE; RECORDS ARE SMASHED

PARIS, May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Paris today experienced the hottest May day in 116 years, the thermometer hitting 91-100 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon. The heat here generated a peculiarly stifling haze, although the sky was blue throughout France. The weather bureau predicts continued heat with possibly an even higher temperature tomorrow. The usually crowded streets were thinly peopled at noon today and there were noticeably few women on the boulevards. The cafes and beer gardens, however, did a land office business.

GENEVA, May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—The heat wave in the Alps region has broken a 90-year record for the month of May, the thermometer at a number of points today registering 90 degrees Fahrenheit. Snow and glaciers are melting rapidly and the Rhine and Rhone rivers are rising.

An avalanche released by the heat destroyed an Alpine club house, it was reported today, on the summit of Mount Fernigkogel, 7,000 feet above sea level.

Policeman's Slayer Suspect Caught

CLEVELAND, O., May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—A man who is believed to be Danilo Damico, killer of three men sought for the killing of Patrolman Edward Werne and the serious wounding of two officers in Akron three years ago, was arrested by Sheriff C. B. Stannard and a squad of deputies in a raid early today on a house just outside the city limits in Parma township.

The suspect was picked up by Stannard because of his resemblance to a photo in a circular sent out by Akron police. Officials are expected to arrive here today to try to identify the suspect, who denies all knowledge of the Akron affair.

COMMUNITY CHORUS VISITS LUCASVILLE

Music lovers of Lucasville were treated to one of the best musical programs in years last evening when the Community Chorus of Portsmouth gave an entertainment in the Lucasville Community hall. The program of songs was one that met with the instant approval of the large crowd that attended the entertainment.

Selections from the oratorio "Elijah," were given in addition to the singing of some of the old-time ballads, including "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," and others that are always popular. The Lucasville people showed their appreciation of the efforts of the chorus by loud and long applause.

FOOD CLUB LEADERS HOLD CONFERENCE

A conference for Food Club leaders was held Tuesday afternoon with Miss Alma Garvin of the Home Economics Department of Ohio State University present to give instructions on the methods of conducting food clubs. She also outlined programs for Club work and instructed the leaders on club activities. The leaders present were Mrs. Lucy R. Fullerton of the Minford Club, Mrs. Charles Heit of the Willing Workers Club of the Sunshine community, Miss Esther Oakes of Empire Grange Club and Miss Amy Andre of the Lucasville Club. Hawthorn and Wheelersville Clubs were not represented.

The Food Clubs are organized for the girls of the county and embrace four years of work during which the clubs take up many helpful things, among them, canning, preserving, pickling, baking and other subjects which are of practical value in the home.

Issued recently to give the sixty-two cases of bonded liquor to the Marting hospital an inventory of the stock was taken and it was found to be 20 quarts short. Five of the quart bottles were filled with water, showing that the whisky had been extracted and the water substituted. The other bottles were either missing entirely or were in the cases empty.

A class of more than 100 will be added on Thursday, giving the Grotto one of the largest organizations in the tri-state region.

It is stated that the costumes and the scenery to be used in the ceremonial cost in the neighborhood of $10,000. Even at this early date, the Huntington Grotto is casting about for a suitable site and expects to erect a magnificent Grotto home.

Be Careful What You Wash
Your Child's Hair With

If you want to keep your child's hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisided coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Multisided in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It will make an abundance of rich creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multisided coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Multisided—advertisement.

WOMAN'S ILLS MAKE UNHAPPY HOME

There is no question but what the ills of women conspire against domestic harmony. The husband cannot understand these troubles and the physician finds it hard to cure them; therefore the overworked wife and mother continues to drag around day in and day out with headaches and backaches, fretful and nervous.

Such women should be guided by the experience of women whose letters we are continually publishing in this paper. Many of them declare that they have been restored to health, strength and happiness by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after doctors and all other medicines had failed to help them. It will surely pay women who suffer from such ailments to try it.

YOUR BABY IN HOT WEATHER Frequent Dips Help Keep Baby Comfortable

HE HAS HAD HIS BATH AND IS READY FOR HIS NAP

BY MRS. MAX WEST
Late of the United States Children's Bureau

When the baby frets and waits with discomfort after a long hot day, a bath will help matters wonderfully. In the hottest weather he may have two or three baths a day, without harm. If the bath is only a quick dip into tepid water and out again.

No soap need be used in these cooling baths, and the whole process need take only a few minutes. The water should be at body temperature, neither hot nor cold. If it is a little baby, undress him, and holding him on the mother's arm and head, slip him into the water and wet the whole body completely. Then lift him out into a large towel and dry the skin by patting, not rubbing.

If the baby is older and can sit alone, he may play and splash for a few moments. It is necessary to dry between the toes and in the folds and creases of the skin and when thoroughly dry, a little dusting powder may be applied.

The regular daily bath, usually given in the morning, being for cleansing, should be warmer, but never hot. Every mother should possess a bath thermometer and should regulate the water by it.

A little pure castile soap may be used, but when any sort of soap is applied to a baby it should be thoroughly rinsed off to avoid danger of irritating the tender flesh.

Other baths, useful in summer, are bran, starch and soda. To make a bran bath, fill a small cheesecloth bag with clean bran and soak and squeeze in the bath until the water is milky.

Let the baby stay in the bath a few minutes, and the skin will be slightly coated with a thin paste which is soothing in case of prickly heat. A starch bath is made by adding a cup of cold-cooked laundry starch to a gallon of water. The use and effect are similar to the bran bath.

For a soda bath, dissolve two tablespoons of cooking soda in a gallon of water. This, too, is soothing in a heat rash.

A sponge bath, meaning one in which the baby is washed off while lying on the mother's lap and not put into the tub, is better than no bath, but it is far better to use a tub.

Any sort of clean pan will answer for a baby's bathtub and in hot weather frequent dips will afford him no end of relief and comfort. (Tomorrow: Care of baby's skin)

Mighty good entertainment comes to the Eastland theatre tonight for a two days' run, when Eugene O'Brien appears in a new comedy-drama, "Chivalrous Charley".

In a word "Chivalrous Charley" depicts the attempts of young Charley Reilly to live down a reputation for too much gallantry towards the ladies. Coming back to New York after some years in the West, where he had been sent by an indulgent uncle in the hope that western life would correct him — Charley concludes that nature is stronger than environment. In fact the metropolitan environment seems instantly upon his arrival to offer more opportunity for misdirected zeal in behalf of the gentler sex than his uncle anticipated, when Charley was invited home.

Finally, finding his nephew to be incorrigible, his uncle engages a capricious Miss and a host of confederates to inveigle him into such a series of complications as will prove conclusively that gallantry is a practice to be left to the keeping of the middle ages.

The action of the story moves with hair-raising rapidity, situation following situation, and growing in interest to the last foot of film. There are hectic flights, inspiring rescues, breathless escapes and a final cross-country motorcycle race between the hero and his bride and the police.

Credit must be given to Nancy Deaver, George Fawcett and Huntley Gordon among the cast, and to Robert Ellis, who directed the picture.

DENOUNCES

PASTOR'S SPEECH

COLUMBUS, O., May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—A denunciation of the speech of Rev. M. J. Grable, of Salem, president of the Ohio Christian Missionary Society, before that body in which he criticized orthodoxy in general and said scientists of every country "have been discredited by churchmen," was made last night by Rev. W. N. Hicks, pastor of Mill Avenue Church of Christ, Cleveland.

"If we want to kill the mission of the Disciples of Christ, we can find no better way than by listening to such an address," Rev. Hicks declared, after Rev. Grable had concluded his address. "I wish to lodge a public protest against the address of that man."

"Progress always has followed the findings of the laboratory and the scientists have been honored by every one except the orthodox churches, who have gone so far as to attribute their attitude toward the church as springing from malignity," Rev. Hicks asserted.

Today's program included addresses by I. J. Cahill, Cleveland; W. H. Thompson, Middletown; G. W. Wise, Leipsic; P. H. Welshmen, Canton, and H. O. Pritchard, Indianapolis. Daniel Polling, Boston, will address the evening session on "The Next War."

No Steel Merger Until Department Of Justice Advises

WASHINGTON D. C., May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Five independent steel companies of the eight named in the senate resolution ordering an investigation of the proposed merger were represented at a conference with Attorney General Daugherty today arranged at the latter's request in order that the department of justice could inform itself of the details.

The five steel companies were represented as follows:

Judge J. B. Kennedy, of the Brier Hill Steel Co., who also represented the Steel and Tube Co. of America; Alva W. Dinkley, of the Midvale Steel and Ordnance Co.; John Topping, of the Republic Iron & Steel Co.; and William Wallace, Jr., of the firm of Chadbourne, Babbitt & Wallace, which has been negotiating the merger, acting for the Inland Steel Co.

Mr. Wallace said before going into the meeting that only three of the five companies present were now active in the proposed merger, the Inland, Republic and Inland, although he added, "the Brier Hill and the Steel & Tube were 'still in the picture'."

The Bethlehem and Lackawanna companies, which also were named in the resolution, were not identified in any way at present with the merger, Mr. Wallace said. The smaller independents he said, had at no time been negotiating with the Bethlehem, but had, however, negotiated with the Lackawanna until the Lackawanna withdrew and joined with the Bethlehem in a separate merger. The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. recently withdrew altogether.

Attorney General Daugherty invited the federal trade commission to participate in today's hearing as the commission was named jointly with the department of justice in the resolution.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Miss Dolly Wise—Please tell me in your column the address of Ralph Richards. "The Wizard," his Chicago address. If not known, his local address.

A FRIEND: I don't know his present address, but his permanent address is 1512 Tribune Building, Chicago, Ill.

Dear Dolly—What is good for my hair. It is a dark color and is very thin and is not very long. What is good to put on it?

DOLLY DIMPLES: Massage it with olive oil or vaseline every other night and shampoo it once a week for awhile.

Miss Wise—Is there an Ohio State Law, to throw dirty wash water into an open drain, which runs by other homes, when said drain doesn't carry water off readily? The water stands and becomes stagnant. And what will it be when warm weather comes?

People wash to be clean, wear and use clean things, but if wash water is not dirty, what is the use of going to the above trouble? Please answer as soon as you can.

WANT-TO-KNOW: There is a state law and also a city ordinance covering this question. Report the matter to Plumbing Inspector William West, City Building, and he will see that they tap the sanitary sewer, or at least quit throwing their waste water in the alley.

Dear Miss Wise—As you have helped so many others, I wish you would settle a controversy for me. If it is zero today and it would be twice as cold tomorrow, how cold would it be? Are you light or dark complexioned?

LUCASVILLE LAD: If it was twice as cold as zero, I suppose it would be double zero, I

Society devotees were very much in evidence and greatly complimented this afternoon at the charming bridge party given by Mrs. L. P. Haldeman and her daughter, Miss Helen Haldeman, at their handsome home, 1301 Gallia street. The spacious rooms of the Haldeman home, which afford an ideal place for a gathering, never appeared prettier. Large clusters of roses, peonies and orange blossoms added to the beauty of the occasion and afforded cheerful surroundings for the attractive group of handsomely gowned matrons and maids. After a brief reception a call for the game was made and the guests found their places at ten tables where the intricacies of bridge were enjoyed for several hours. Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Those wicked old fellows don't like anybody," said Mr. Peernabout.

AND now," said Mr. Peernabout, the Man-in-the-Moon, handling the sapphire shaker with its magic powder to Nick, "suppose you start off and hunt up old Comet-Legs for me, and sprinkle a little of this magic powder on his bowlegs.

"If any of it touches this jealous fairy his legs will immediately become straight, and he can never hide his shooting-star again. His days of mischief will be over. He is mortally afraid of this powder and if he discovers you are after him he'll be harder than ever to catch."

Nancy got up off her crooked stool and Nick rose from his wobbly chair. "Shall we start right away?" asked Nancy.

"Pretty soon," said Mr. Peernabout. "I want to show you over the moon first."

"Where does Comet-Legs spend most of his time?" asked Nick.

"Among his wicked friends," said Mr. Peernabout. "He lives on a big planet, but he doesn't like it and won't stay at home. Says if he can't live on the moon, and run it, he won't stay on a planet, big or little."

Launder your silk underwear the gentle way that keeps it looking new

It used to be rather a trial to go into the shops and see them—exquisite underthings of shimmering silk and delicate lace.

But what was the use, you asked yourself mournfully, of getting the adorable things only to have them ruined the first time they were washed. Silk is perishable, unless it is properly cared for; careless laundering will quickly ruin it. Just the suds from a harsh soap or harsh soap flake can affect delicate colors, and coarsen fine textures. Rubbing will rough up and fray the tiny, silk threads.

But with Lux it is so easy to keep your most charming things perfect, your very frilliest apple-blossom chemise, your nightdresses of corn and lotus pink.

The Lux flakes whisk instantly into a creamy, bubbly lather that gently lifts the dirt out. Lux suds are just as delicate as the perishable color or fabric—they can't injure anything that pure water alone won't harm.

The gentle Lux cleansing will keep your silk underthings fresh and new through innumerable washings. Get a box today from your grocer, druggist or department store. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Linda Lee Inc.

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

After five years of married life, LUCINDA DRUCE, New York society matron, concluded that wealth, youth, beauty, social position and sincere love, were not sufficient to hold the affection of her husband, BELAMY DRUCE. Weak-willed and selfish, Bel had been guilty of a series of escapades in which promiscuous flirtation and drunkenness had combined to humiliate his wife.

A broken promise to reform caused Lucinda to leave him. Bel follows her to Chicago and is prevented from forcibly restraining her from going to Reno by the intervention of an unidentified young man.

On the train, Lucinda meets her old friend, FANNY LONTAINE, who with her husband is going to Hollywood, where

HARRY LONTAINE is thinking of forming a motion picture company. She learns that the young man who assisted her in escaping from Bel is also on the train and that he is

LYNN SUMMERLAD, a prominent screen star.

Lucinda has agreed to join the proposed motion picture company to take the star role.

In Los Angeles Mrs. Druce, now to be starred as Linda Lee in the Linda Lee Inc. motion picture Co., becomes so interested that Lontaine easily persuades her to furnish the capital for the producing of the pictures.

The weeks drag by and no work started on the proposed picture although the heavy expense is going on. Lontaine and Summerlad assure Linda Lee that it costs money to make pictures. Summerlad makes love to Linda and she more than half reciprocates. Nelly Marquis appears on the scene and Summerlad advises Linda to have nothing to do with her. Summerlad has just left.

"I only wanted to help you, if I could," Lucinda explained, getting to her feet. "If you're unhappy—I'm so sorry—"

The movement must have been misinterpreted, for the girl sprang up like a threatened animal.

"I don't want your 'help,'" she stormed throatily. "I don't want anything to do with you—only to be left alone!" She flung herself at Lucinda as if to thrust her out by force. "Go! go! go!" she screamed. Then the window slammed.

"Poor thing," Lucinda told herself—"she must have heard...."

THERE was at this time little room in Lucinda's inner life for other people's troubles, she was much too agreeably engrossed in doing on this radiant Linda Lee, victress in a form of duel of which Summerlad was reputed a master who had never known defeat. Rumors current of his success with women had found her credulous and lenient; mortal vanity saw to that. It feeds on strange foods, vanity. Think as well as you will of yourself, you shall not find unacceptable the belief that one well loved by many has been laid low by love of you alone.

That morning, as every morning now, she woke with a smile responsive to the smiling promise of the day, called for her car and saluted forth.

Her rooms were so situated that to reach the main entrance she had to pass the corner room now occupied by Nelly Marquis and malicious loud would have it that the two should meet.

The Marquis girl had been out and was returning with a small packet slipped in a shabbily gloved hand. A well-made woman with a graceful carriage, her face held elements of beauty of a wild, sweet sort; but dimmed and wasted by dependency and impaired health. Today the dark rings under her eyes were deeper, the eyes themselves more desperate than when their look had first appealed to Lucinda's sympathies. And seeing her so, Lucinda with a soliloquy cry—"Why, Miss Marquis!"—paused and extended an impulsive hand.

The girl hurried away from her hand, drinking to the wall; her scant natural color ebbing till the rouge was livid on cheeks and lips, while her eyes grew hard and hot.

"Well," she said sullenly—"what do you want?"

Confounded by this proof of a hostility as pertentious as it was perverse, Lucinda faltered: "But—you are ill—"

"Well; and if I am, what's that to you?" The words uttered in a level tone nevertheless seemed to force explosively past the tremulous, waxen lips. "Oh, don't worry your head about me; think about yourself. Don't forget you can be contaminated by a creature like me, don't forget—she accomplished a singularly true reproduction of Summerlad's tone—"I'm really not the sort you can afford to get mixed up with!"

"I'm so sorry," she heard, Miss Marquis. Of course neither of us had any idea you were—"

"Eavesdropper! Why don't you say it? I'm not ashamed," she meant no harm. I didn't say what you repeat—you know—"

The girl gave a grimace of pure hate. "No," she snarled—"you didn't say anything, unkind, you were too busy posing as Lady Bountiful to pass uncharitable remarks!" But he—he said enough—enough for me. Oh, I'm not saying he didn't tell the truth! I'm a bad lot, all right—a rotten bad lot, if you want to know—and I'll be worse before I'm better. So you watch out and keep away from me—do you hear?"

"Yes," said Lucinda coolly—"clearly"—and went her way.

Her car brought her to the Zinn studios.

Neither Lynn nor Joseph Jacques, his director, was in evidence, but the cameraman said the two of them had retired to the director's office for a conference.

To the office Lucinda and Fanny Lontaine repaired and—their knock being answered by a morose knave—there discovered Summerlad, in elaborate evening clothes, a thoughtful scowl on his handsome, painted face, with Jacques, a mild-mannered young chinquapian, in riding breeches and boots, sitting on the desk itself, and moodily drumming its side with his heels.

"We were wondering if you'd care to be an angel to us, Lucinda," said Summerlad.

"Help us out of the worst sort of a hole, Miss Lee," Jacques added.

"Oh, nothing at all!" Summerlad assured her with a laugh that depreciated the very idea—"all we want you to do is forget you're a star, or going to be, and play a little part with me in this picture we're doing now."

"I'd love to," "Knew she'd do it!"—Jacques crowed.

"You are a brick, Linda, and no mistake. You're no idea what a load you've taken off our minds. You see, this part, while nothing to speak of in itself, is awfully important to the picture in one way; it absolutely demands somebody who's got everything you've got."

"We had Gloria Glory engaged; but this morning she sent round word she had pneumonia poisoning."

"Gloria Glory?" Fanny commented. "Why, I saw her down at Sunset last night."

"Too much party," Jacques interpreted. "I had the bunch, all right. Gloria sure do crook a mean elbow when she gets unlimbered."

"Then you'll do it, Linda?" "I'll love doing it. What do you want me to wear?"

"Cross-saddle costume, Miss Lee," Jacques explained. "White breeches and a pair of swell boots—you know like the society dames wear when they go horse-backing in Central Park, New York, if you've ever seen 'em."

"Yes," said Lucinda soberly—"once or twice. I daresay I can pick one up in Los Angeles this afternoon."

Lucinda experienced no difficulty in fitting herself acceptably with a ready-made costume of white linen for cross-saddle riding, and light tan boots of soft leather.

The prospect of at last doing real work before a camera, after her long wait since falling in with Lontaine's scheme, inspired a quiet elation. She had already been elaborately tested and re-tested, of course, by the cameraman under contract with Linda Lee (Inc.); she had ceased to feel self-conscious in the fierce white light of the Klieg.

"WHEN I WANT A DOCTOR I'LL CALL HIM MYSELF. GOOD NIGHT."

It wasn't till she found herself in the corridor leading to her suit that Lucinda remembered Nelly Marquis; she hadn't given the girl two thoughts since morning.

As she passed Miss Marquis' room, she noticed that the door was slightly ajar, and where the light from the corridor struck in across the threshold, a white hand at rest upon the floor, a woman's hand, palm up, the fingers slightly contracted, absolutely still. A startling thing to see....

For a few seconds Lucinda stood entranced with premonitions of horror. Then she moved to the door and rapped on it gently. There was no response, the hand didn't stir. She called guardedly: "Miss Marquis!"—and when nobody answered laid hold of the knob.

Nelly Marquis lay supine, breathing, if at all, so lightly that the movement of her bosom, beneath the ragged lace of a pink silk negligee, was imperceptible. Her lids, half lowered, showed only the whites of rolled up eyes, her lips were parted and discolored, her painted face was more ghastly even than it had been in the morning. On the evidence of her body's posture in relation to the partly opened door, she had been taken suddenly ill; had rushed to call for assistance, and had fallen in the act of turning the knob. Lucinda, when the door, knelt, touched the girl's wrist, and found it ice cold. But when she placed her hand upon the bosom she found it warm, and that the heart in it was faintly but unmistakably fluttering.

In relief and pity, she essayed to take the girl up in her arms and carry her to the bed, but found the dead weight too great.

Castling round at random for something in the nature of a restorative, she found in the bathroom a bottle of aggressive toilet water and a pint flask of what, half emptied.

Alternately moistening the pale lips with the whisker and bathing the brows, and temples with toilet water, she observed for the first time a reddish bruise under the left eye, the mark of a blow, possibly sustained in falling. But there was nothing nearby that the girl could have struck, to inflict such a hurt, except the door-knob, and if she had struck this with such force she must, one would think, have slammed the door.

It was puzzling.... Her ministrations eventually began to take effect. The bleached lips quivered, closed, then opened and closed several times. The woman's lashes trembled and curtained her eyes.

"Do you think you're strong enough now to get to bed, if I help?" The girl nodded: "...try," she whispered. Using all her strength Lucinda succeeded in getting Nelly Marquis on her feet. About this time the clouded faculties began to clear. Clinging to Lucinda's arm, the girl started as if in a spasm of fear, darted swift glances of terror round the room, then turned a look of perplexity to Lucinda.

"Where is he?" the whisper demanded. "Has he—has he gone?" "There is no one else here, nothing to be afraid of. Come: let me help you to bed."

Recognition dawned as she spoke, with a movement of feeble fury the girl threw Lucinda's arm away, but deprived of its support staggered to the foot of the bed, to which she clung, quaking.

"You," she cried—"what you doing here?" "The door was open, I saw you lying senseless on the floor. You'd have done as much for me."

"Oh, would I? A lot you know!" Her knees seemed about to buckle; will-power alone kept Nelly Marquis from sinking; yet she persisted: "I suppose I ought to thank you. Well, much obliged, I'm sure. Is that enough?"

"Quite enough. I've no wish to annoy you. Only, let me suggest, you need a doctor." May I ask the office to call one?"

"When I want a doctor, I'll call him myself. Good night."

"I'm sorry," said Lucinda simply. With no choice other than to go, she went. But the vision she carried away, of Nelly Marquis glaring at her with eyes malevolent, her frail body vibrating so that it shook the bed.

tion to the partly opened door, she had been taken suddenly ill; had rushed to call for assistance, and had fallen in the act of turning the knob.

Lucinda, when the door, knelt, touched the girl's wrist, and found it ice cold. But when she placed her hand upon the bosom she found it warm, and that the heart in it was faintly but unmistakably fluttering.

In relief and pity, she essayed to take the girl up in her arms and carry her to the bed, but found the dead weight too great.

Express Gratitude
The beautiful pageant entitled "The Striking of America's Hour" rendered in the Allen Chapel church by the Women's Missionary Society and the Otterbein Guild of the United Brethren church proved to be one of the best entertainments ever witnessed in the history of the church. At the Board meeting last night we were reminded that we had not publicly expressed our appreciation and gratefulness to the societies for their splendid services. The pastor Rev. N. W. Brown, authorized Mrs. E. E. White to perform this very pleasant duty. Again in the name of Allen Chapel church we thank you and invite you to come again with your gospel message. THE COMMITTEE.

The Portsmouth American Building and Loan Association Company has one asset, none the less real because it is not reflected in a published financial statement—it is the loyalty and friendship of a host of interested shareholders and borrowers who have steadfastly and for many years given material proof of their friendship.

Viewed from a standpoint of the ideals and traditions of this organization, none of our tangible assets could be more highly prized, or of greater commercial value in our plans for the development of home ownership in this community.

Without the past confidence and co-operation of our shareholders and borrowers, we could not have obtained the high plane of service and value to the economic structure of the community, which we are today privileged to occupy.

With the continuance of such trust and confidence—which it shall be our most cherished duty to merit fully—there can be no limit to what we may accomplish for the good of the housing and employment problems now existing here.

This is a company striving to reach the highest ideals in the Building and Loan Association movement, and offering at the same time absolute security to its shareholders. We are endeavoring to give the service that we find our patrons requiring, and we shall continue to serve their interests during the coming years with an even greater zeal than ever before.

The Thrifty Citizen Who Caught the Plugged Nickel

MR. BROWN had swallowed his lunch and had paid his bill. Cautiously he counted his change. "Here!" he said, sharply, "Take back this plugged nickel and give me a good one!"

Mr. Brown walked proudly out. They couldn't fool old Brown.

But old Brown had fooled himself.

Brown's day was heavy and dull. He lacked "pep." There was a mid-afternoon drowsy spell when he needed to be awake—the direct and natural result of heavy, starchy breakfasts and lunches, taken on faith and without question as to value—just because the food looked and tasted like food.

Thousands of shrewd business men who count their change, take their food for granted.

First to establish the $10.90 price "Usco"

THE makers of U. S. Tires made this announcement last November—

"Hereafter the price of the 30x3 1/2 'Usco' is $10.90."

The lowest price ever quoted on a tire of quality reputation and standard performance.

And now, with the opening of Spring, there seem to be quite a number of "New and Special tires" coming into the market in the $10.90 price range.

Perhaps you are wondering just what there can be either "new" or "special" about these tires.

It can't be the $10.90 price—"Usco" established that five months ago.

Nor quality reputation and standard performance—for it takes more than one full season for any new tire to demonstrate where it stands in quality and value.

With so many tires rushing into this $10.90 price field (now that the season promises business from the American car-owner), it is worth remembering that "Usco" showed its good faith by announcing this price last fall.

The same intent to serve that has made "Usco" a standard value for years.

The "Usco" Tire was never better than it is today—with its established quality, its time-tested performance, and its price closely figured in tune with the times.

Here's A Chance To Get Real "Home Made" Delicacies Without Getting "Heated Up"

In the effort to finance the summer camp that will be conducted for the young women of Portsmouth through the Bureau of Community Service, the committee of women known as the Community Club Committee who are behind the plan have decided to hold bake sales on Saturday afternoons for the next six weeks. The sale Saturday afternoon will be at the Portsmouth Storage and Auction company room, 841 Gallia street, next to the Mary Louise. All kinds of home baked delicacies will be on sale starting at one o'clock, and those who want to escape the discomforts attending baking during the war weather period will find this is a real opportunity, as some of the best cooks in the city will donate to the bake sale.

This is the time of year when everyone who can pay the price is planning for a summer vacation trip, and it is to afford an opportunity for an outing to the young women of the city whose employment or other circumstances will not allow them to make an extended trip that the summer camp is held. It has proven a very popular place in the past, and bigger things than ever are expected this year. The Bureau of Community Service finds itself unable to finance the camp and carry on other work, and in this emergency a number of women have come forward and are endeavoring to raise the needed money. Already they have on hand a considerable sum realized from a card party and a card party and dance. It is hoped that this will be augmented considerably through the bake sales, and the committee members wish to urge all interested in such a splendid enterprise to patronize these bake sales.

The committee in charge of the sale Saturday consists of Mrs. J. W. Bannan, Mrs. John Kelly, Mrs. Earl Pursell and Mrs. James Yeley.

Ohio Baptists Elect Officers

CLEVELAND, May 23—Evangelism was the topic for discussion by several speakers at yesterday's session of the convention of Ohio Baptists. Speakers included Rev. A. C. Archibald, Youngstown, and Rev. F. A. Stiles, Middletown. Mr. Archibald said that Evangelism is fundamental in the Baptist church and cannot be replaced by other work. Mr. Stiles stated that Evangelism simply means introducing to God.

E. H. Rhodes, Toledo, was reelected president for the seventh time. Other officers chosen were Rev. David Borington, Cleveland, vice president; S. W. Hamblin, Granville, recording secretary; and F. B. Wiley, Granville, treasurer.

The convention continues tomorrow.

FOR R

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 24—Railroad shares were the strongest and most active issues at the opening of today's stock market. Advances ranging from fractions to over one point followed the announcement of freight rate reductions by the Interstate Commerce Commission. These reductions were less severe than Wall Street had feared. New York Central, New Haven, New York, Chicago and St. Louis, Chicago and Alton, Norfolk and Western, Pittsburgh and West Virginia and Lake Erie and Western common and preferred featured the early demand for transportation. Midvale Steel was strong, as the industrialists, gaining 1 1/4 points on a wide opening including one lot of 1500 shares. Republic Iron American Car and Lima Locomotive rose 1 to 1 1/2 points. Domestic oils were firm, but the foreign group continued to ease.

Some of the rails, particularly Chicago and Alton common and preferred, Nickel Plate, Wash common and preferred A and Reading first and second preferred, continued to strengthen in the early dealings, but the more representative rails became reactionary. Independent steels were hesitant on details of reports that merger negotiations were approaching completion, although Crucible, Republic and Pennsylvania seaboard were conspicuously strong. Equipments were featured by Lima Locomotive, which rose four points. Foreign oils came forward with the domestic group later on heavy buying of Mexican Petroleum and General Asphalt. Shipplings strengthened and the list of higher specialties and utilities included American Tobacco Products, Industrial Alcohol, Allied Chemical, North American and Brooklyn Union Gas. Call money opened at 4 per cent.

Prospective freight rate reductions by the Interstate Commerce Commission exerted little adverse influence upon the stock market today. Rails were firm to strong and representative industrialists improved. Sales approximated 1,100,000 shares. The closing was strong.

Chicago Grain And Provisions

CHICAGO, May 24—Pronounced weakness of prices showed itself in the wheat market today during the early dealings. Big deliveries on May contracts, 822,000 bushels, had a bearish effect and so too did heavy receipts here, estimated at totalling 350 carloads. Besides, the Liverpool market was unresponsive to yesterday's advance on this side of the Atlantic and there was apparent lack of important buying support here. The opening, which ranged from 1/2 to 1c lower, with May 1.37 and July 1.25 1/2 to 1.25 1/2, was followed by a sharp general decline, May soon dropping to 1.34 1/2.

Corn and oats were depressed by the action of wheat. After starting 1/2c lower to a shade advance, July 64, the corn market underwent a moderate general setback. Oats started unchanged to 1/2c lower, July 38 1/2 to 39, and later showed slight losses for all deliveries.

Provisions tended downward with grain, notwithstanding an upturn in the value of hogs.

Stinnes

The trusts. This German capitalization is honestly represented by actual properties in superabundance. The agreement Stinnes drew up locks these united concerns together until the year 2000, all of which shows that Stinnes is building for a long time ahead, for a time when he hopes Stinnes' grandsons will be industrial princes in a Germany that will more than have fully recovered from her defeat in the great war.

In a previous article I outlined the many activities of the Rhine-Elbe Union. The Siemens and Halske-Schuckert concern, even before Stinnes stuck a finger in the pie, practically entered the life of every German. It built and controlled subways in Berlin and sold every kind of electric light globes. One could order from it a small electrical tool or a complete lighting and motor plant with the very latest thing in dynamos or turbines. If you wanted to shop for wireless telephone outfits or telephone systems or any one of a hundred ingenious electrical devices, this concern could and would deliver the goods.

It had grown great because of the genius of two men. There is as much a fairy story of business life as that of George Westinghouse or Thomas A. Edison in similar fields in America.

The Siemens concern, for instance, was founded by Werner Siemens in a one-room shop back of a residence in a poor little street in Berlin. He took in as a partner a mechanic named George Halske. From tinkering with tiny repair jobs, they pushed their business until they lay a deep-sea cable or construct the entire telegraph system for the vast Russian empire, was all to the year's work.

About the same time another electrician started out from behind a Nuremberg in Southern Germany. This Bavarian founded the great business of Schuckert and Co.

And by and by the two businesses came together and became the Siemens-Schuckert Corporation.

The names of their underlying enterprises are legion. The Siemens wiring has immense plants in Berlin, Hamburg, Bremen and Kiel. It owns a separate corporation which makes all kinds of electrical lamps and in its turn owns still other companies.

The Schuckert concern not only covered Bavaria, but had plants in Mannheim and Dessau. The combine owns subsidiary concerns in Paris, Barcelona and St. Petersburg and on the side operates a big automobile factory, a porcelain works, a steamship turbine plant and a cable manufactory.

It has tremendous holdings in Dresden and also in Switzerland.

Stinnes' Only Defeat
In fact, it is hard to go anywhere in Germany or in neighboring countries without seeing some of the properties of this electrical trust. By bringing this huge corporation within the sphere of his influence, Stinnes has not only made himself by all odds the biggest business man in Europe, if not in the world, but in the midst of his success has hanged himself up against one of the few failures of his career.

It was his ambition to unite all the electrical interests of Germany into one all-embracing concern.

To do this it would have been necessary to bring in the far-famed A. E. G., which, as every German knows, stands for the Allgemeine Elektrische Gesellschaft. This is the company which was formed by Emil Rathenau and over which, until he went into politics, the son of the founder, Walter Rathenau, presided. Stinnes and Rathenau are sworn enemies and there are three reasons for this feud which enlivens German politics and business:

First—As stated, Rathenau and his friends would not agree to merge the A. E. G. in the Stinnes combine.

Second—Stinnes stands for a sort of benevolent despotism in his business relations with his workmen, whereas Rathenau, while not an out and out Socialist, has a great many socialistic ideas as to the future relations between employer and employee.

Third—The two men, as great captains of industry, clashed over the matter of German reparations to the allies. At the Spa conference Rathenau, then minister of reparations, favored Germany's acceptance of the obligations imposed by the allies. Stinnes wanted Germany to give a blunt "No." The Rathenau policy prevailed.

Later Rathenau went out of the cabinet for a time and then it was announced the chancellor was thinking of making him minister for for-elgin affairs. The Stinnes press and the Stinnes political party, the German People's Party, at once threw down the gauge of battle. But once more Rathenau won. At present there is an armed truce between the men and their great corporations. But people who know him and have watched Stinnes, are betting he is not through yet. Sooner or later they believe he will bring A. E. G. into some sort of business union with his super trust.

Brommer tells in his next story how Stinnes, 'new Kaiser of Germany,' gets the 'civic' money.

Rate Cut

multifarious activities. It has a capitalization of about a billion marks. And there is very little if any water in this.

Therein it differs from our gigantism that railroad rates can or should be established on the present high basis is futile.

The majority further said that "until the public is convinced that there is little likelihood of immediate further material reductions in prices or transportation charges, confidence necessary to normal business will to that extent be impaired."

Explaining the reason for adopting a horizontal method of "reducing freight rates, the commission said that while alterations in price levels had unequally affected different commodities "the needs of commerce can not be met if rates are to fluctuate with market prices of commodities."

Its conclusion was that "reduction should be made generally upon all commodities in substantially equal ratio."

In the matter of reasonable return the commission pointed out that until March 1, 1922, railroads had been legally entitled to six per cent annual earnings on the aggregate value of property used in transportation. The sum was fixed by the transportation act as the amount equal to 5 1/2 per cent with one-half of one per cent additional to be granted in the discretion of the commission for provision for improvements and betterments to railroads. The commission exercised this discretion and the reasonable return consequently has generally been known as "the six per cent return."

The commission in modifying the fair return standard reviewed testimony taken by it in the general rate case and concluded that "a substantial reduction in the percentage of return might be unsettling in its effect particularly in the light of the fact that the return allowed in 1920 was not realized."

"We may observe that a fair return of 5.75 per cent," the commission said in further explanation, "after deducting the federal corporation income tax on the return of six per cent would be approximately the equivalent of a fair return of six per cent out of which the federal income tax was payable."

In this connection the commission concluded that its 1920 estimates of the aggregate value of railway property in the country, which was $18,900,000,000, as made for rate making purposes, could still be accepted. The changes in valuation made since would be immaterial in calculating earnings.

Chairman McChord, in his dissenting opinion, objected to the rate of return allowed and expressed the opinion that it should not exceed 5.5 per cent and that in any case the commission should not set a value at the present time.

"In my judgment the general reductions now decreed fall short of full attainment of the desired end," he added. "The present level of rates on basic articles . . . should be materially reduced."

Commissioner Eastman said that the decision should have been withheld to await action by the railroad board on pending applications for the reduction of wage scales. Commissioner Lewis, though dissenting remarked that "the decision of the commission that rates be reduced is unanimous."

Commissioner Potter said that "during the early stages of our deliberations it was his opinion that 'so-called basic commodities' should be given preferential reductions, but that he had now developed by further consideration objections to such a course."

Daugherty

"He (Morse) must submit to whatever they suggested and they suggested Bright's disease," said Senator Caraway. "It was Daugherty and Felder who discovered that and it was Dr. Fowler, the prison physician, who confirmed it."

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Declaring his conviction that the people of the United States "have confidence in the department of justice being fair, judicious and effective," Attorney General Daugherty in a formal statement said today that prosecution of war fraud cases would be carried out as expeditiously as possible. Irrespective of attacks being made upon him in connection with the Morse case.

The attorney general in a statement—his first direct reply to the charges made by Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, and others, said:

"The correspondence of Ex-President Taft and Attorney General Wickensham, which was again published this month, really shows my connection with the Morse cases of many years ago, both civil and criminal. The incentive and motives inspiring this and other satillations, will not accomplish the results hoped for by those behind the scenes."

"The vigorous prosecution of war fraud cases will be carried out as expeditiously as possible, irrespective of these and other agitations and attacks which will be expected. I have faith that the people of the country appreciate the situation and have confidence in the department of justice being fair, judicious and effective."

Greb Beats Tunney; Wins Title

NEW YORK, May 24.—Harry Greb, variously known in fistic circles as the Pittsburgh Bearcat, the "Wildcat" and the "Windmill" today was holder of the American light heavyweight title as a result of his victory last night in 15 rounds with Gene Tunney of this city. And now Harry wants to meet Georges Carpentier for the world title.

Greb started against Tunney in his usual whirlwind fashion and mugged up the New Yorker's countenance with sharp hooks and long swings before the contest was many rounds old. Greb opened a cut on Tunney's nose and cut both his eyes. Then Tunney slowed the Pittsburgher for a spell with hard body punches.

Recovering quickly, Greb launched an assault after assault for the head and body and while his punches were not as hard as those sent in by Tunney, they were in the majority.

The "Bearcat" was always on top of his opponent and was the aggressor in more of the rounds. Against Greb Tunney displayed some of the courage that carried him to fistic titular honors in the American expeditionary forces in France.

It has been reported that Carpentier will come to this country this year to defend his world light heavyweight title against any man selected. Greb after the victory of last night expressed willingness to meet Carpentier at any time.

WHEN LAMPS BURN LOW

Duke Ridgley in yesterday's Huntington Herald-Dispatch said:

No ball player is younger than his batting eye. When that begins going so does he. When "Old Daddy Time" puts a player's orb on the blink it isn't very long until that man is ready for the scrap heap.

Few ball tossers seem to hit well after they have passed the 35-year mark and many start slipping before that time. Hans Wagner was an exception to the rule, so is Ty Cobb. Tris Speaker, and we might name several others, but generally speaking, 35 comes mighty close to being the "deadline"—35, just when men in other walks of life are beginning to come "bilo" their own.

Take Ezra Mulkiff, for example. "Old Salt Rock" may, or may not be in the 35-zone, but he won't miss it a country mile. "Middy" is the oldest active diamond artist in Huntington—and the ebst. Mulkiff is a natural horn hitter, always has been and always will be. Ezra's arm may lack the zip of yester years; his legs may not be as sprightly as they once were and his speed may have dropped off a few kilometers, but just as long as he is able to be rolled up to home plate in a wheel-chair he will bag his share of the base hits.

Many of the other local idols have been able to slam the apple with much vigor after their usefulness in other departments of the game had begun to slip out of the picture. Jim

Barnett slowed up considerably after Father Time cast his eagle eye in Jim's direction. Watt Powell and "Blindy" Beers, two of the main exponents in the Charleston baseball car, are no longer in the fistic chicken class, but, oh, how they can hit. Don't let anybody tell you that Watt and "Blindy" aren't dynamite with runners on the sacks. Dick Smith of Ironton, "Pop" Hastings of Parkersburg, Lew Cort and Lawrence McCleure of Huntington, Herb Howell of Logan, Shockey Taylor of Ironton, Joe Barber of Portsmouth, Tim DeLoe of Ashland, Cecil Headley of Powhatan, Beverly Maynard of Williamson, Alf Childers of Granddote, and "Lucky" Baker of the Dam 27 are just a few of the "native sons" we can think up who can hit just as well today as they did the first time they ever faced a pitching peak.

Twelfth Homer

NEW YORK, May 24.—Kenneth Williams, of the St. Louis Americans, hit his 12th home run of the season in a game with the Yankees. Two men were on base yesterday.

Russell Team Coming Back Sunday

The strong Russell team and Gale's All Stars will renew their argument in Millbrook park Sunday afternoon and the fair is sure to fly on this occasion as Our Boys will bust their suspenders in a great effort to wipe out the sting of the defeat handed them a couple of weeks ago by the Kentuckians, who are coming on with much confidence in their ability to repeat the dose.

This will be the second combat of the series between these crack teams and it promises to be even more exciting than the first battle which went to the enemy after nine fast and furious rounds by the tight score of 5 to 3, the invaders winning it out by a belated rally in the last session, which was full of thrills.

"Doc" Baughman and his companions expect to fully demonstrate to the visitors that their victory in the initial clash was a fluke pure and simple by reversing that verdict.

This exhibition will be a treat to local fans, who want to see Our Boys and the husky athletics from Russell.

sell and wallow them in the dust. A big bunch of rooters from the Kentucky town will accompany their team here, and according to advance reports they propose to make the welkin ring with their shouts of encouragement to their pets to bring victory.

Play will be called promptly at 2:30 with Buck Yeager handling the indicator. Remember that the admittance price has been reduced and that ladies are admitted free, grandstand seats and all.

MAY BE FALL RACING AT RUSSELL

The Ironton Register Tuesday said:

"There is a possibility that a Fall racing meet will be held at the Russell track, it was learned today. Officials of the Kentucky racing commission and others interested in the proposed track have gone to the east to take the matter up with a syndicate and it is altogether likely that final arrangements will be made and work on the track begun within a short time.

It is said that Engineer Horning, retained by the Kentucky racing commissioners, and others interested in the Russell track, has declared the site near Chinnville to be the most ideal that could be secured and the location is much more convenient than it would have been at Ashland or other points in the tri-state because it is in the very center of a population of hundreds of thousands with rail connections to all parts of the country.

The Chesapeake & Ohio railway company is understood to have decided to arrange for a new station at the race track site, building a big depot and storage house.

Reds Make It Seven In Row! Ho! Ho!

While the Cincinnati Reds were walloping the New York Giants again Tuesday, the Chicago Cubs were taking a licking from the Brooklyn Dodgers as a consequence the Moran outfit moved up into a tie with the Bruins for fourth place, both being at the 500 mark in the percentage column at the end of the day's toil.

The Queen City warriors are just now putting up the best article of play in the old circuit, having won seven straight and they are now within striking distance of the top where they are sure to land within a few days if they continue their marvelous work.

The big lead which the Giants started western trip with a couple of weeks ago has melted away to almost nothing and the world's champions were hanging on first place Wednesday morning with a lead of but 25 points ahead of the Pittsburgh Pirates, thanks to the three defeats handed the McGraw clan by the Redland gang while the Snaky City crew was having an easy time laying it all over the Phillies.

The eastern teams finished up disastrous invasion of the west Wednesday and tonight will trek back to their own battlefields beyond the Alleghenies. Should the Reds accomplish the feat of defeating the Giants in the last game of the series and the Pirates again trim the Quaker City bunch, the Pittsburgh clan will shoot into the lead tonight.

Who'll Take Him On

Hiram Colley stepped to the front of the stage last night with a challenge to fight any welterweight in this section, including fighters in Columbus, Ironton, Ashland and Huntington. Colley weighs 146. His manager is H. W. Darragh, 928 Third street.

Ruth Not Invited To Home Run Party

A home run party took place on the Polo Grounds in New York yesterday and poor old Babe Ruth was not invited.

He went hitless while Ken Williams, his nearest rival, Sluter and Baker slammed out four-plays. Hamming will warm up to his cleaving in a day or two and then the old pill will weep copious tears.

P. H. S. To Send 15 Athletes To Meet

The P. H. S. track team and field event athletes expect to make a number of points in the tri-state track and field meet that is to be held in Ashland Saturday. The locals are working out each afternoon and feel confident of placing in many of the events. Charleston, Huntington, Ashland and Portsmouth have entered with Charleston touted as the possible winner. P. H. S. will be represented by fifteen athletes who will work under the direction of Coach Dan Fries.

Tut Jackson is having a tough time getting squared away in the ring. The other night in Cincinnati he had to knockout Battling Randolph

IF THE REDS AGAIN TRIM THE GIANTS AND PITTSBURG WINS, PIRATES WILL GO INTO FIRST PLACE

Race In National League Is Tightening Up For Keeps

NEW YORK, May 24.—Pittsburgh, which has taken advantage of the slump affecting the Giants and St. Louis to make a three-cornered race at the top of the National league, had a chance today to take the lead by winning from Philadelphia, providing Cincinnati made it four straight from New York. Such a turn of events would give the Pirates a margin of .007 in the percentage column, although there would be no actual advantage in games.

The Giants tried hard to emerge from their losing streak yesterday, but after trying the score in the ninth was beaten in the tenth 6-5 by the Reds, while the other six pitchers in a vain effort to stop the Boston Braves, who won 8-0. Dock was credited with his first defeat of the season while Rogers Hornsby rapped out his ninth home run.

Meanwhile the Pirates outbatted Philadelphia and won 10-3. Max Carey turning in a good day's work with two singles, a triple, two walks, three runs and three stolen bases, while Brooklyn behind Mameaux's good pitching, made a clean sweep of the series with Chicago 6-2.

Babe Ruth watched his chief rival for the home run hitting crown, Kenneth Williams, clutch his 12th for the season, the blow giving St. Louis a winning margin over the Yankees and an even break in the series.

"Bing" Miller, of the Athletics, who is close on Williams' heels in the slugging ace, also collected his tenth four base wallop, but the Mackmen lost a close game to Detroit, 6-5, Ty Cobb knocking in the winning run during a ninth inning rally.

Speaker's all-round play and Uhl's pitching enabled Cleveland to snatch another from Boston 5-3, while Washington got to Robertson in one inning for enough to trim Chicago.

Baseballer Gets Nothing By Crabbing At Umpire, Ken Says, And May Hurt His Own Chances

BY KEN WILLIAMS
(Concluding a series of 10 articles by present home-run leader of 1922)

OBSERVATION will show you that the leading hitters of the game invariably pick on the umpire.

That is, with the count two balls and no strikes, and the pitcher really forced to try to get the next one over, while away at it if it looks good.

At other times it is good policy to make up your mind to hit the first ball pitched, if it is over.

Such tactics keep the pitcher on edge and greatly aid the batter.

If a batter has a habit of taking the first ball wise pitchers soon get help to it and make it a point to get that ball over for a strike.

Helps the Pitcher
With a strike on the batter has the upper hand. It enables him to work on the batter and thereby make much trouble for him.

Have the proper temperament. Don't crab at the umpire. Kicking fails to change a decision and in turn throws the batter off his stride.

I know this to be the case because I have often kicked over a strike and become so peeved that while I was still crabbing I would see another strike whiz by and I would be in no position to swing at it.

Only Kicks Discreetly
While I still find it impossible to accept every ruling of the umpire without dissenting I have made it a point never to kick unless I feel justified in so doing.

My kicks this year are honest ones, and I am going to make them in such a way that the umpire will respect by opinion rather than make him feel like giving me the gate.

However, I still maintain the only certain formula for making home runs is to hit them into the stands or over the fence.

THE HUNTINGTON ELECTION

It is not surprising to observers that Mayor C. W. Campbell, of Huntington, was defeated for re-election, but that the majority against him should have been so overwhelming, being the largest ever given in a Huntington mayoralty election, is surprising to many. Mr. Campbell had made a good mayor, from a business standpoint, all admitted that. He had been conscientious and careful in attending to his duties and so far as personality goes, he is a man of highest character and standing. Why then was he so humbly defeated?

Out of the heated primary campaign in which he was easily re-nominated, and the equally heated election in which he was easily defeated, we gather these facts: First Mayor Campbell made Huntington an absolutely closed town on Sunday, putting the ban on everything from a shine to a cocoa-cola. That did not sit well with many people. Huntington has always been pretty keen on law observance and has never been a wide open Sunday town. Why then go to extremes in Sunday enforcement, it was argued. The result was that Mayor Campbell faced bitter opposition in his party primary, this opposition being a frank and open protest on the part of elements in his own party against strict enforcement of laws. The very size of the vote by Mayor Campbell's opponent indicated his defeat. In addition to this element there was another underlying cause that undoubtedly cost Mayor Campbell hundreds of votes, and that was his utter disregard of the party that elected him and the friends who supported him. He seemed to enjoy ignoring party associates and apparently was under the hallucination that such a course was a sign of great and unusual independence and integrity. The result was that many influential democrats were indifferent and many went squarely over into the republican camp on election day.

Then, of course, Mayor Campbell met the usual fate of the ultra-reformer in office. When the test came, when he needed help in order to continue his regime, the ones who prayed the longest and slapped him on the back the hardest by way of approval, were apathetic. We fail to find any evidence of an uprising on the part of the churches and their affiliated bodies, of the reform associations of Huntington, in behalf of Mayor Campbell's cause. The ones the mayor offended were on the job, the ones who should have been on the firing line for his principles and theirs, did nothing.

And so, with these conditions, the terrific defeat of Mayor Campbell is understandable. He was due for defeat on the Blue Law crusade against him by a small majority, at best; the other matters mentioned above, swelled the tide of votes against him.

THE LATEST MOVIE "SCANDAL"

RUDOLPH VALENTINO'S Mexican marriage will make an interesting subject of discussion wherever this film star is known, but it is doubtful if the California courts concern themselves about it if the actor is careful. An interlocutory decree of divorce had been granted in his suit, which amounted to judicial notice that in the absence of some action to prevent, a final decree would be granted one year later. Until the issue of the judgment Valentino remains the husband of the wife from whom he sought freedom.

What he has done in Mexico will hardly be taken cognizance of by the California courts unless the actor attempts to live in the Golden Gate state as the husband of his new mate. Even then the charge against him would not be bigamy, since if he has committed that crime it was in Mexico and California courts have no jurisdiction to punish offenses committed outside the borders of that state. But the marriage in Mexico might prove embarrassing in that the court which granted the interlocutory decree may be appealed to by the wife if she recognizes to withhold final judgment on account of the plaintiff's conduct. However, that is farther along.

There have been some queer complications in marital affairs due to the differences of divorce statutes in this country. In some states a practice prevails of granting decrees of divorce with a stipulation that one of the parties shall not marry within a specified time. But the inhibition is effective only within that particular jurisdiction. Over the state line it does not operate. If the person chooses to get married in the next state and return home no penalty can be imposed against him or her. Judicial proceedings of each state are entitled to faith and credit in every state. If the marriage was legal in Ohio, say, Illinois must accord it recognition though an Illinois court had forbidden one of the parties to marry at the line.

In the Valentino case there can be no recognition of the actor's Mexican marriage in California because there he has a legal wife.

Mrs. Katherine Walsh, local court stenographer, has completed the transcript of the evidence in the case of W. N. Ferguson, Columbus man, who was convicted by a jury in the Pike county common pleas court of aiding in issuing false certificates of deposit on the Beaver Bank, which was wrecked through the transactions, it is claimed. The transcript together with a petition in error has been filed in the Pike county court of appeals by Attorney Timothy G. Hogan, of Columbus, for the defendant, seeking to reverse the judgment and sentence of the lower court. The accused is out on bond, having obtained a stay of execution until the case has been passed upon by the appellate court.

OFFERINGS

AFTER Aaron was made high priest he killed a lamb and laid it upon the altar as an offering for the sins of the people. God sent fire that burned it and the people were joyous, for they knew God was pleased. This fire was kept burning by the priests, and any man who was sorry, he had sinned could bring his offering. When a man repented and wanted to be forgiven the whole of his offering was burned; this was a burnt offering. If he was thankful for some blessing, only part was burned and part eaten; this was a peace offering.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MONTGOMERY

NEW YORK, May 24.—In that magic hour when Manhattan pauses in its dizzy rush—the hour between six and seven—Sixth Avenue goes on parade. It is not the "parade" of Fifth, its haughty and aristocratic neighbor. There are no Victorias, silks, satins and high topers. Nor is it bathed in the aura of sartorial splendor.

Sixth Avenue parades in shiny serge in an atmosphere as run down as its collective heel. Asthmatic and rheumatic men with timid eyes, haunted by that fearful spectre of old age wait, scan the employment agency bulletin boards. They read the unromantic signs that herald work on Nebraska farms or dishwashing in Long Island homes.

Younger men thrill to scrawled placards of jobs down in the depths of ocean liners, on the decks of tramp steamers or in tented mining camps. Sixth Avenue is the evening haven of the jobless who find amusement without cost before going to their benches in Bryant park.

There is the electric shoe repair shop—running through a block. Inside runs upon rows of shoeless men lounge about waiting to be re-heeled and re-soled after tireless tramping about for work. For the women fur shops with far north names. And Leo, the head man. Bob, who pays cash for diamonds. Blind Tim, the pawn-broker, whose patrons are of the dem-monde.

"Each block has its sale," "Creditors Demand Cash" cries the banner in somewhat prophetic blood-red letters. And there are as many as eight cheap restaurants strung together. Gay little hash-houses where patrons eat from marble top tables to tunes from nickel-slot pianos.

As night goes on life grows more hectic. Flamboyant all night dental parlors display their whizzing electric signs. Crowds seep to the chop restaurants where peroxide ladies weep over soiled souls at dawn. In some of the sub-cellars are chili carne joints where poppy reigns. There is a click of billiard balls all through the night. Work may be slack but Sixth Avenue manages to fill its pleasure haunts.

My sympathy is with the young man who told his girl he did not want to see Broadway's realistic drama, "The Hairy Ape," because "he did not care for trained animal acts." Years ago I took a certain lady, very musically inclined, to see "The Kreutzer Sonata" because I thought it was grand opera. But the old wheeze of the East Side movie proprietor stands supreme. You recall that when he advertised These's

"The Doll House," he added the line, "Bring The Kiddies."

And all the book-store clerks complain that customers in asking for F. Scott Fitzgerald's newest novel inquire if they have "The Beautiful Be Damned."

At a supper club the other night the head-waiter bowed to a party of six. The party had a reservation, made by telephone.

"Have you your membership card?" asked the head waiter.

The host explained about the reservation and also stated that he had been there many times before without a membership card. But the czar of the silk ropes was adamant. So the party left. There was, it so happened, an Episcopal clergyman in the party. All of which didn't explain anything to me until I was told that the supper clubs fear pulp exposures and consequently bar gentlemen of the cloth.

However the supper clubs have cause for alarm. Another chilling frost has touched the fast and furious bloom of night life in the Forties. The crash of cymbals and the swish of flying feet must cease at 2 a. m. The supper clubs now have only two hours to exact their practical toll. Just from midnight until the new closing hour may they make the public's bank-roll.

Not So Sure

An elderly man was persuaded by one of his sons to go with him to a football game.

The son, intent upon giving his father a good time, had bought two seats in the grandstand.

"Now," said the son, "you'll see more excitement for your $2 than you've ever seen before."

The old man grunted.

"I don't know so much about that," he said, "Two dollars was all I paid for my marriage license."
